

Mrs. Elvidge's January 2025 Newsletter

Happy 2025! May this year bring you good health, happiness and prosperity!

Please make certain your child has a seasonally appropriate change of clothes at school. Thank you!*

It is such fun to work with your children. It is thrilling to watch them develop an understanding of new letters and skills. Please continue to review our letter of the week with your child at home and review all letters we have learned so far this school year. The letters we have learned so far this year are: Ff, Ee, Dd, Pp, Bb, Rr, Nn, Mm, Hh, Kk, Ll, Uu and Vv. The first two weeks in January we will focus on reviewing the above letters. The second half of January, letters Ww, Yy and Zz will be introduced. It truly helps to reinforce at home the skills I am teaching in the classroom. Your child thanks you for all of your extra efforts!!

Pajama Day will be held on Friday, January 31st-have your child wear PJs to school with sneakers 😊

The beginning of this month I will focus on evaluating the children in a variety of areas. I will be conducting Parent/Teacher conferences on Monday, January 20th. There will be NO school for students on the 20th. Please make arrangements for childcare during your conference. No children should attend conferences. During our conference we will discuss your child's progress and plans for schooling for next year. Details will be sent out via email soon about conference times.

2025

Praying for a good year!
